

DAVID L. WALDMAN

David Waldman is the chief investment officer of Loomis, Sayles & Company. He oversees the firm's diverse investment teams across fixed income and the small cap, emerging market and global equity opportunities teams in equity. In addition, David oversees the firm's centralized resources, including trading, ESG, investment risk management and the credit, quantitative and macro strategies research groups. He is also a member of the firm's Board of Directors.

David joined Loomis Sayles in 2007 as director of quantitative research and risk analysis. He was promoted to deputy CIO in 2013 and to CIO in 2021. He has 35 years of investment industry experience. David spent his early career as a fixed income portfolio manager with Goldman Sachs Asset Management and Lazard Freres Asset Management. He later joined Putnam Investments, where he was a senior portfolio manager and director of fixed income quantitative research. He earned an undergraduate degree in economics from Stanford University and an MBA in finance from New York University.